

A note from our real5 founder:

CONNECTING OUR COMMUNITY

Welcome to Issue 2 of Take 5. Our network is growing faster than ever, and our mission remains the same: making procurement personal and simple for your school. This month, we’ve handpicked 5 brilliant partners, each ready to save your school and its staff even more time and budget.

ANDREW HIBBERT

June’s Education Event.. was fantastic, seeing so many at the education event & the new connections made highlighted just what this initiative can do.

We brought together local school leaders and approved suppliers in the Platinum Lounge at The Halliwell Jones Stadium to build trusted, face-to-face connections. From sharing procurement challenges over coffee to discovering smarter ways to stretch school budgets, the energy in the room was brilliant. Thank you to everyone who joined us to support local schools and businesses.

Missed out? Keep an eye out for the next event to be announced!

Connecting Communities, Upgrading Schools: Summer Transformation at Locking Stumps: Pupils returned from the summer break to a bright, modern surprise this term — brand-new boys' and girls' washrooms!

Over the holiday, Urban Building Projects carried out a complete floor-to-ceiling overhaul. The old facilities were fully ripped out and replaced to create a clean, durable, and welcoming space for students. What’s New:

- Modern Cubicles & Vanity Units: Built for heavy daily use with a sleek, contemporary finish.
- Upgraded Sanitaryware & Accessories: High-speed hand dryers, new soap dispensers, and fresh mirrors.
- Fresh Flooring & Wall Coverings: Durable, hygienic surfaces designed for high-traffic school days.
- Complete Redecoration: Brightened up with a fresh coat of paint and modern styling throughout.

The Power of Local Connections This project is a perfect example of how the right connections enable great work to happen. Locking Stumps School found Urban Building Projects directly through real5 for Education—a procurement initiative designed to connect Warrington schools and their staff with trusted, high-quality local tradespeople and buisnesses offering their best possible pricing. Thanks to this real5 connection, Urban Building Projects was brought on board to deliver a seamless transformation just in time for the new term.
